Case of City Against Defendant Charged With Keeping Assignment House Is Keenly Contested.

Frequent objections of counsel on both sides of the case of the city of Janesville against Oscar H. Hand, charged with keeping an assignment house in the city in violation of section 13 of chapter 21 of the revised ordinances, interrupted the proceedings before a jury of six in Judge Maxfield's court this morning.

At the conclusion of the testimony, Attorney John D. Fisher, for the defendant, interposed the first objection when City Attorney W. H. Dougherty first asked to examine the defendant as an adverse witness.

At the conclusion of the testimony, Attorney John D. Fisher, for the defendant, interposed the first objection when City Attorney W. H. Dougherty first asked to examine the defendant as an adverse witness.

Witnesses called by the city attorney subsequent to the arguments on Mr. Fisher's objection were not heard or less puzzled on the matter of reputation. Dr. W. H. Judd, John Murphy, William Farness, William Marsden and A. Crossman were called to testify in this regard during the morning session of the court.

GETS NINETY DAYS ON SECOND OFFENSE

Sam Cooley Gets Stiff Sentence for Drunkenness in Municipal Court This Morning.

Sam Cooley, arraigned before Judge Maxfield in municipal court this morning on the charge of drunkenness, was given a ninety-day sentence to the city jail.

Thirty day terms were handed out to Bert Billings and to John Lee, both charged with drunkenness, in default of payment of $25 fines. John Carroll pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for Monday.

Sheriff Whipple announced that the demand for prisoners committed under the new state law continues to increase, and he receives phone calls daily asking for help. Farmers are especially anxious to get men at this time.

Mr. Whipple has suggested that if there are any men who are looking for work at this time, they can easily secure employment by applying at his office. In fact, the sheriff's office is already becoming a sort of employment agency and several men who were not committed to jail for any offense have secured positions by entering their applications there.

There is one provision of the new commitment law which is particularly stringent and it refers to the sale of liquor to persons who are serving under the chapter. It reads as follows:

"Any person who shall knowingly furnish to such convicted person, or any such convicted person, who shall use any intoxicating liquors or drinks shall on conviction be punished by commitment to the county jail at hard manual labor for not less than thirty days and not more than six months."

SPORT Snap-Shots

MORRIS MILLER

While the fact isn't generally known, old "Pop" Warner, the Carlisle coach, conducts a sort of training school for coaches at Carlisle early in the football season. The Carlisle coaches start their football practice quite a little earlier than the other schools and during the first several weeks of their season coaches from other colleges like to gather round and watch "Pop" put the redskins through their paces. No one seems willing to admit it, but the truth is that Warner coaches most of the other coaches as well as his own crew. And by watching "Pop" show the Carlisle boys how to do it the coaches are able to pick up a lot of valuable hunches.

Unless the Yale pigskin experts are very much mistaken there is one member of their squad this season who will make all the football fans of the country sit up and voice their commendation. Having in mind Mr. Pummely, who is said by all who have seen him perform to be the real find of several seasons. Last fall he showed up in the game with Princeton in a way that delighted all Eli and the work he has done thus far this year in practice seems to warrant the greatest expectations. In a scrimmage game the other day he made a touchdown in a manner that thrilled all beholders. We shall expect great things of Mr. Pummely.

Following is a little dope on the brilliant performers of the past season. Gabby Cravath gets the honors at the bat. Carey leads all the base-stealers. Best run-getter, Leach. The best fielding club of the National league was St. Louis. The best batting National league club, Pittsburgh. In the American league, Jackson leads the batters, since he's played in more games and his slugging averages better than Cobb's. Clyde Milan of Washington leads the base-stealers. Collins was the best runner of the league, and the Athletics get the ribbon for the best hitting and best fielding team of the league. It is worthy of note that while the Athletics averaged up ahead of all others in the American league both at hitting and fielding, the Giants in the National league lead in neither department. However, they managed to win games, which is, after all, said and done, the big consideration.

CASE-ALL FITS

Joe Jackson leads all others in the American league in pounding out doubles. 39 times has Joe raced on to second.

The leading triple trouncer is Tris Speaker. Tris has 22 of them to his credit.

J. Franklin continues to wear with easy grace his title of "Home-run" Baker. He has beaten out all others with 12 swats for the complete circuit.

The Athletics' fielding record, the best of the season, was .965. The Athletics at bat piled up the best average with .291.

The Cleveland Naps lead all others in making double plays with 124.

Walter Johnson thus far in the season has struck out 227 batters.

Ray Chapman is the leading sacrifice of the American league with a record of 40.

Pratt of the St. Louis Browns has played in more games than any other American leaguer. He has taken part in 144 performances.

And They'll Pack 'em in.
In New York the following prices will prevail: Boxes accommodating four persons, $25; upper grand stand, reserved, $3; admission and entire lower grand stand, unreserved, $2; bleacher seats, $1.

Unreserved seats will be sold at the Polo Grounds on the day of the games "first come, first served." Reserved seat tickets must be purchased for three days from both clubs. In the event that three games are not played, the clubs will refund the money for the third game tickets. In Philadelphia the prices will be: Box seats, $5 each; reserved seats in main grand stand, $3; reserved seats, right and left field pavilions, $2; bleacher seats, $1.

William J. MacBeth, New York, and Joseph M. McCready, Philadelphia, will have charge of the newspaper arrangements in their respective cities.

The commission appointed Leslie H. Constant, secretary of the Pittsburgh club, to represent it in both cities, but he has not yet accepted the appointment.

A preliminary meeting of the commission will be held in New York on October 6.

City Series Umpires Picked.
Harry N. Hempstead, president, and John B. Foster, secretary, represented the New York club, and the interests of the Philadelphia Americans were looked after by Benjamin F. Shibe, president of the club.

The date and place of the opening game was decided by a flip of a coin. As Garry Hermann, chairman of the commission, tossed a half-dollar into the air, Hempstead called "head," and head it fell. In the next instant he called out "New York, October 7."

The national commission after disposing of the world series details, appointed Umpires O'Laughlin, Sheridan, O'Day and Orth to officiate in the Chicago series. Umpires Byron and Evers will be the arbitrators in the Boston City series, which also starts on October 7.

Persevering Chinamen.
There are oil and salt wells in China more than 2,000 feet deep that have been drilled through solid rock by hand with the most primitive tools.

What American League pitcher?

Opposing managers and pitchers in world's series, and Eber of the Athletics, whose hitting will be a feature of the games

A world's series that will be the greatest in the history of baseball, a series of luxe and a rubber series at that, will be played off in October when the Giants and the Athletics meet to settle once and for all the present baseball championship of the world.

The approaching contest is marked throughout with unusual features. Everything seems to have contributed to make the coming diamond dispute the most thrilling we have ever watched. And the most apathetic and blasé will watch it with eager interest.

A faithful and adequate recital of what might be expected would read like a circus poster. This is the third time that the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Athletics have struggled through such a contest.

In the two previous encounters each team has won the gala bunting once, and the series this October will be a rubber series, a sort of grand finale that will establish the winner as the greatest world's champion of all time.

Both the Athletics and the Giants have won five pennants. The Giants won the National league rag in 1904 but at that time there was no organized world's championship series and the Giants scorned to play the Boston Red Sox, the American league champs. In 1905 the Giants were again the leaders in the National league race and this was the first season of a regular world's championship encounter, the New Yorkers meeting the Athletics and beating them rather decisively, four games out of five. Every game was a shut-out, the Giants winning the first 3 to 0, the Philadelphia crew taking the second 3 to 0, and the Giants getting the remaining three with scores of 9 to 0, 1 to 0 and 2 to 0. Mathewson, the mighty Matty, won three of the games for New York and McGinnity the other. Plank lost two games and Coakley.

The Athletics, too, had won a pennant previous to 1905, the year of under Connie Mack, they nosed 'em all the competition. From 1905 when they played the Giants for the first world's championship, however, all 1910 the Mackmen went pennantless. In 1910 they triumphed again and this season they went after the Chicago Cubs and turned the trick. The season following the Athletics won another pennant, and the Giants who had languished more or less since 1905 came to the front again in the National league. This time the Athletics trounced them with neatness and dispatch, at the same time winning the big banner two seasons in succession, a little achievement never achieved before or since.

In the 1911 series the Athletics won four games to two. Not quite so emphatically as the Giants had beaten them in 1905 perhaps, but none the less in a convincing manner. New York with Matty in the box copped the first game from the Athletics with Bender pitching, 3 to 1. The following three games went to the Mackmen with Plank, Coombs and Bender, respectively, officiating on the mound. The scores being 3 to 1, 3 to 1 and 4 to 2. In the next game Marquard, Ames and Crandall all got together and managed to put a winner over for the Giants with the score 4 to 3, and with Coombs and Plank working for the Mackmen. In the last game of the series Bender put the hooks to an Ames-Plank-Marquard combination, and the Athletics galloped away with the score 13 to 2. Which seems to be the history of Giant-Athletic battles for the title.

Last season, it will be remembered, the Giants won the National league pennant again, but lost to the Boston Red Sox in the grand encounter. The Red Sox had nosed out the Athletics in the American league race, the first time the Athletics had lost the lead for three seasons. This season they have come back in great shape, however, and are now frowning in a menacing way in the general direction of Gotham. There are those who say that they will carry out their threats with éclat. Others are not so sure about the eclat and are swinging their hats for the Giants. Pondering the dope and trying to figure out the way the buy leaves is an excellent way of bringing on nerves. Attending the world's series and watching the hair-raising plays would be another good way.

So any way you take it all will be nervous wrecks by the end of the next month.

Still Fear Francis Drake.
Sir Francis Drake's name still inspires terror in Central America. Traveling in Mexico in 1904, Edward Smith records that he "heard a woman calming a tempestuous child by saying: 'Ah! viene Drake!' (Here comes Drake!)" I made minute inquiries and found that it is a common threat to children on the Mexican coast, like unto "Bony will get you!" or, "The Black Douglas shall get you!" Fancy people still living in terror of seeing Drake's topalls on the horizon.

WORLD WIDE OBSESSIONS.

Residents of Wisconsin wonder at the increased taxation imposed by the state government, and fail to realize that Wisconsin, in a small way, is simply following the general trend of the age in increasing the expenditures of the government to the extreme limit. It is not Wisconsin alone, or Wisconsin taxpayers that suffer. Of course this state is the leader in the progressive policies, which always mean costly experiments in civil government, but still other states and even nations are experimenting, apparently to see how far they can go before the taxpayers rise in revolt.

The Wall Street Journal says that extravagance by municipalities and local administration, states and governments will strike the future historian as being the most startling feature of the present. It is not that many of these projects, calling for vast sums of money, are not plausible, and even desirable on their face. It is that taxation everywhere has grown with fearful rapidity; and that new enterprises are launched where the money is needed for bare maintenance; while no attempt to check extravagance in administration is made.

France, for instance, facing a heavy deficit in its revenues, burdened with a horde of superfluous civil servants arising out of unprofitable railroad and other enterprises, proposes to spend, as a first installment, 230,000,000 francs on the development of Morocco. A substantial part of this is to be spent upon harbor works, notably at Mehedra, Rabat, Mazagan. With one possible exception, Morocco does not possess a port which is, on the most flattering description, a safe open roadstead the year round, to say nothing of a sheltered harbor. The scheme is ambitious and proposes to create five first-class harbors, and seven of less capacity available for coastwise trade.

Timaru, on the Pacific coast of the southernly large island of the New Zealand group, is the only city in the British Empire which has a receiver-ship on its records. It started to build a breakwater, where the eternal silt of the ocean was of a different mind, and it threw its cash, taxes and credit into the sea before it found that the project was impracticable. Harbor works, in fact, all ways cost more than the sum originally contemplated; and in many cases form a bottomless pit for the sinking of public money.

This form of enterprise, moreover, is one which produces capital has occasionally made profitable, but which when undertaken with public money, entails a constant and increasing expenditure, because there is no retreat when such an enterprise is once launched. But France also is in the same of "keeping up with Lizzie." Like her neighbors, she measures her expenditures by her wants and not by her needs. Her people are the most frugal and saving in the world. But the voting is controlled by a majority of sinecurists and superfluous public servants on the voting registers is already recognized by thoughtful statesmen as a dangerous menace.

To those in this country who advocate a continued expansion of public expenditure, this example, one of an almost limitless number, is seriously commended. Taxes cannot be paid except by drafts upon private resources, for, as Cleveland said, government has not a dollar to bestow which it does not take out of somebody's pocket. And it is this capital, in whatever hands it may be, which is the indispensable requisite of employment, growth and prosperity.

THE NATIONAL PASTIME.

Americans are a sport-loving nation. It is not fair to say that every Englishman is a sportsman, without including his American cousin in the list. England has its cricket and football and Uncle Sam's children baseball and football, as well as a host of minor sports that fill in the interim between the close of the football season and the opening of the baseball. Just at present the eyes of the baseball fans are turned towards the results of the coming world series for the championship of the baseball world, to be contested for by the Philadelphia American league team and the New York National league team. Minor contests closer at home, between the two Chicago teams of the two big leagues, are but side issues to the great games which will be played in the east starting October 7th. Baseball is the national American game. England has football; so has America. England has basketball, golf, tennis and other sports and so has America, but England does not have baseball and America has, so here is the advantage of the residents of this side of the great "Puddle." Thus far, baseball has escaped the fate of other sports, as horse racing and boxing of becoming a gambling proposition. Each game is played on its merits, each team is composed of men who seek personal gain by landing the coveted pennant and woe betide the player who seeks to throw a game, his fall from honor is swift and sure and even the bush leagues do not care for him. Baseball is a good, healthy exercise. While it can be indulged in by but eighteen players at a time, it still attracts the attention of thousands and is a clean sport. Rock county has a particular interest in the game through past performances of men who have been famous on the diamond who came from this section of the country. There was a day when Janesville had a team that ranked with the best of them, but that was years ago and today baseball has become so complex an organization that it takes small fortune to finance even a winning team. However there are several good semiprofessional teams in the county who do not fail to keep up the interest of the sport.

Oiling of streets and house-cleaning always come together and sometimes the housewife wishes that the oiling did not come at all when it is tracked into her nice clean apartment. The woman who wants a divorce because her husband has sulky fits and morose moods, recalls the doctor who gave up his practice because folks kept on getting sick. A Georgian man under sentence to be hanged next month has been re-elected president of his lodge. Perhaps the real contest was for the vice presidency. Secretary Bryan is quite right in refusing to tell where his money goes. It is only reasonable to expect every man to find his own place. A Colorado man has had his stomach removed. He ought to be able to get a job as a theatrical manager in New York now. There probably won't be any outcry against the turkey trot due to begin in the barnyards in a few weeks. It is said the tailors are deciding upon a new waist line for men. Will it be the Taft or the Wilson model? Still it may be just as well to keep the matches out of the reach of Mrs. Pankhurst during her sojourn here. President Wilson is right in keeping congress on the job. The American vacation is hard on the health. Huerta says he is willing to turn his office over to a successor. Under the same conditions Madero did? It is to be hoped that Argentine beef isn't as tough as the Argentine dance. Harry Thaw says he is on the water wagon. Tied on, so to speak. Has John Bull any more cups he wants to put up?

STATE PRESS.

Machine Politics Not New.
Congress may soon decide to vote by machinery. The floor and then press their two buttons, and save time and bother for the rest of the members.—Green Bay Gazette.

Suggestion for Janesville.
Hardly a day passes that some city in the country does not establish a public market. Fond du Lac is to have one of its own within a short time and then will be in a position to reap some of the advantages which other cities are already enjoying along that line.—Fond du Lac Reporter.

Much Needed Awakening.
Antigo, a city much smaller than either Marinette or Menomonie, has just installed a sewage disposal plant. The two cities here will be obliged to make this move some day. Pollution of the public water supply by dumping garbage into the bay and then paying for its purification, with not always a certainty of a wholesome supply, seems rather absurd.—Marinette Eagle Star.

But What is Consistency?
The "spontaneous" voice of the people is a funny thing. Two years ago the farmers of the northwest were indulging in a well-groomed public overindulgence of being wiped out of existence by Canadian reciprocity. Now, a bill is about to become a law, embodying practically every single feature of the reciprocity act which was objected to, and the farmers are saying nothing, while some of the very fellows who denounced the reciprocity scare, voted for the tariff bill. Oh, consistency, thou art a lost, strayed or stolen jewel.—Wausau Record-Herald.

A County Press View.
An interesting question arises out of the unusual political conduct of Senator La Follette in voting for the democratic free trade bill. Would he have done so were there no primary election law in force in Wisconsin? He doubt it very much. Another instance of the breaking down of party loyalty by a political lothario, who thinks he will benefit through democratic votes. The primary law and political candidates enacting their own platform has made a chop suey of party cohesiveness. In Wisconsin that is not only discouraging, but disgusting to every sincere believer in the party of Lincoln, Garfield, and McKinley. That is his aim, purpose, strength and vitality is any the less now than it was, is to deny the very history of the nation's greatness, nurtured and preserved by the republican party. It is good enough for millions today, who are party loyalty.—Menominee Falls News.

EXPOSURE MOMENT

Says Old Man Haskins of our town: "There ain't much use in travelin' round. Lookin' fer the thing called hippiness. Bekuz no feller kin ever guess. Just where he'll run agin the same. It sure is a nothin' dislexin' sweet. To go and live on a high-toned street. You can travel through Europe and Asia, too. But it won't take the discontent from you. You kin change your residence every day. And you'll never find happiness that way. I knew a man in a vine-clad cot. Nine miles from nowhere, but he has a fund of happiness laid in store. And he's lived there thirty-five years or more. I know another so doggone rich that he's got moiles and yachts and sides. He has traveled as far as he kin git. But he hasn't found his contentment yet. The more you travel the more you'll find that happiness is just a state of mind. To find the thing you need never start. Unless you have got it in your own heart."

From The Hickoryville Clarion.

Amariah Tilson, our gentlemanly and congenial tonsorial artist, also band and orchestra has busted the thing on his fiddle and says there won't be any more music in this man's town until he runs across a stray cat somewhere or other. Business is so dull Amos Butts is using the hearse for an incubator at this writing and has hatched out several flocks of chickens. A hearse is enough to make anything brood. Elmer Jones is taking a post graduate course at the high school in chemistry so he can get a job down to the city drivin' one of them chemical engines. William Tibbitts has had a wart burned off his finger and now expects to have a fire sale at his general store.

Soth Purdy, our gentlemanly and congenial druggist, also chest protector and fence teeth to rent by day or week (see adv. on page 3), says he is in favor of local option in our midst. If the drug store would only put on a free lunch it might be all right.

Owing to a break in our machinery the Clarion has had to use a foidin bed for a printing press this week. This issue therefore is a little behind time, but not so much as the majority of our subscribers.

According to Uncle Abner.
It is gettin' so the tailors kin make clothes that look almost as stylish as the readymades that a feller sees in the fashion plates.

A feller kin git almost anything at a drug store nowadays exceptin' perhaps drugs.

There ain't no bore like the feller who had money once and only once.

There ain't nothing in this world more cheerin' than an undertaker's ad in the weekly paper.

Whenever a feller goes wrong the are always a few folks in the neighborhood who had always been exp'in' it, but the same is not true w' he makes good.

If men had tails like their actors, the monkeys, they could get onto street car straps and reach newspapers at the same time.

Hi Huggins has took Miss Tibbitts out makin' excuses since years while courtin' her. He's he ain't got an automobile, but along as he keeps the old boss he's got a good sparkin' plug, anyhow.

If an automobile has got electric lights and a self-starter, doesn't make much difference w' it lot of fellers whether it has an engine or not.

One of the strange thin' in life is that the less cloth a feller in wimen's skirts the more the most.

Hank Thomas and Hopters are purty thick nowadays, and weighs 237 pounds and is a feller thick'n Hank is.

Miss Amy Pringle, a girl has to be up and doin' tog a man at the matrimonial alter, he days. She has got to have the p'ly of a Maxine Elliott, the charmer du Barry, the cunning of a Mof a Sarah T. Rover, the artistic of Rosa Bonheur, the conversational ability of a Carrie Chapman C'he strength of Elizabeth and the mind of a Queen, then a man pays f'gger of a Venus license nowadays he wants a whole lot for his money.

Completing the program will be "The Road to the Dawn", a two-part Lubin with Arthur Johnson.

Of Conditions of Large Family And Seeks Aid.

Mrs. John Peters, President of the Janesville Humane society, made a that was reported to her this morning and found conditions even worse than reported. The family consisted of a father and mother and eight children.

There was little or no furniture in the house and the children were so thin that their little clothes merely rags.
Mrs. Peters asks that two beds be donated and clothing suitable for children from a baby four months old to eight years. At present the family sleeps on the bare floor amid a pile of rags. Any donations sent to Mrs.
Peters' residence 304 Fourth avenue will be delivered to the family at once.

MEETING OF PARENTS AT SCHOOL SUCCESS

Milton High School Faculty Confer With Parents of Pupils on Phases of School Work.

Milton, Sept. 24.—The meeting at the school house Tuesday night was a delightful occasion. A representative body of men and women greeted Principal Hurley's yes when he stood on the platform from which he is accustomed to direct the high school activities. He suggested the election of a chairman, but he was urged to conduct the discussion himself informally. In a clear, direct and tactful way he presented different phases of school work upon which the teachers wished the advice and co-operation of the parents.

Questions and discussions followed. Some of the suggestions brought out were the raising of the standard of work of the pupils, more regular and more punctual attendance, help by the parents in the choosing of the course of study which would best serve future life plans. The meeting voted heartily to approve requiring of excuses for absence and the omission of social functions on nights preceding school days. The assistant teachers, Miss Roy, Miss Lovell and Mrs. Oursler, were called upon to speak and made a happy impression. At the close all were invited into the German room where a corps of high school young ladies served refreshments. Parents and teachers gathered in knots for animated conversation, and seemed anxious to separate as the time drew near for them to set a good example for the younger people.

The unanimous wish of the meeting parents who were present will probably be in advance of the next meeting. "We all want to join the 'Booster club.' We have common interests of great importance, and we can best serve them by understanding each other and working in unison. Here's to the Milton High School, and when the next meeting is called, let us fill the assembly room to overflowing."

MEDICAL MEN JOIN FOR SEX EDUCATION

United States Bureau of Education Confronted With Vital Question.

Doctors Differ in Opinion.

To what extent can sex instruction be given to the public schools? Wide difference of opinion still exists among school men on the subject, judging from reports received at the United States Bureau of Education. There is widespread recognition of what President Taft in his College Address calls "The Social Emergency," and general agreement as to the need of action against the social evil, but when it comes to the question of what part the public school shall play, the ideas range from a detailed plan of sex instruction beginning in the elementary schools to a determined opposition to any form of sex education whatsoever.

Professor Thomas M. Balliet of New York university, outlines several points of attack in sex education. He believes sex instruction can now be given to the following groups: (1) To parents, by means of lectures; (2) to enlisted men in the Army and Navy, where the need for it is urgent; (3) to college students, both men and women; (4) to young people in Y. M. C. A.'s and similar associations. Dr. Balliet considers sex instruction to college students particularly valuable, because it will enable them to impart sex knowledge in turn to pupils in elementary and secondary schools, as soon as the public is prepared for this step.

Recently medical men have joined hands with school men in the sex hygiene movement. Dr. Hugh Cabot, a distinguished physician of Boston is one of the leaders in the demand for sex instruction in the schools. He declares that the policy of silence and punishment as practiced in the past has failed. He suggests education, rather than punishment, as a remedy for social evils. He says: "Sooner or later we shall come to realize that teaching the comprehension of the sex instinct is the function of the public school, though we are far from such a realization today." Other members of the American Federation of Sex Hygiene, including former President Elliot, of Harvard, who is the head of the organization, hold equally positive views of the need for sex instruction.

On the other hand, there are many both among educators and physicians, who see danger in sex instruction in the schools. Dr. Tierney, president of Woodstock College, Maryland, expresses the fear that in the minds of many, this instruction is a temptation. "Sex instruction is apt to put forward by some years the time of suggestion and temptation. Safety lies in diverting the attention from sex details." The Office of the Bureau of Education believes that the sex hygiene question is about to assume great importance in many school systems. Chicago is now struggling with the problem; the board of education has appropriated money to provide lectures on sex hygiene to parents and to groups of high school pupils, with the ultimate idea of extending sex instruction to the elementary schools if the experiment with older pupils proves satisfactory. Teachers in New York and other cities report considerable success in incorporating sex instruction into elementary work in biology. State Superintendent Hyatt, of California, has issued a leader on sex instruction that has been considered worthy of distribution by the United States Government, while the American Federation of Sex Hygiene, carrying out its plan of constructive work against the social evil, has drawn up what is probably the most careful outline yet devised for sex education at every stage of life, both in school and at home.

About That Gordian Knot.
The Gordian knot is said to have been made of thongs used as harness to the wagon of Gordian, a husbandman, afterwards King of Phrygia. Whosoever loosed the knot, the ends of which were hidden, the oracle said, should be ruler of Persia. Alexander the Great cut away the knot with his sword until he found the ends of it, and thus, in a military sense, interpreted the oracle.

Mrs. Rose M. Hoffman of Beloit Elected President of Organization—Other Edgerton News.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Edgerton, Sept. 26.—A gathering of the Rock County Women's Christian Temperance Union was held in the First Methodist church at Edgerton last week, Sept. 18-19. Delegates were present from Janesville, Lima, Milton, Milton Junction, Harmony, Evansville, Beloit and Clinton unions. This was known as the twenty-seventh annual convention. A semi-annual convention was held in Edgerton in 1888 and some of the delegates who were here then were present at this convention. Reports of local unions, county officers and county superintendents showed much good work done along many lines. Rev. T. F. North gave the address of welcome Thursday evening, which was responded to by Mrs. C. M. Dresser of Clinton union.
The demonstration of department work of the society presented a fine program much enjoyed by all. Several excellent papers brought out discussions and were helpful. Several of Edgerton's young people assisted in the musical numbers, also Stanley Horwood and mother of Janesville, all of which were thoroughly enjoyed.
Dr. E. L. Eaton of Madison, of chautauque fame, addressed the convention Friday evening in a most interesting and inspiring manner. Edison Talking Motion Pictures.
Edison's Talking Motion Pictures has arrived and are being displayed at the theatre at this week, and it is the crowning marvel of a marvelous age; vocabulary is inadequate to describe and imagination itself is too feeble to comprehend the limitless possibilities of the speaking pictures and the revolution that it precedes and involves in human methods and human conditions in many directions.
It is gravely held and contended that the age of miracles is past, and yet what greater miracle has the human mind ever conceived than that human or animal life, or the semblance of human and animal life, should be created and produced before one's eyes that the dead should be made to rise, to talk and to walk by the evidence of our five senses. The shadow shapes as real and substantial to all intents and purposes as flesh and blood itself can be thrown on the screen at the word Edison, and he made to talk and sing and play their several parts as living men and women. This is exactly what can be seen at the Myers Theatre for two days beginning Tuesday, Sept. 30 and Wednesday, Oct. 1. Matinees daily at 2:15, evening at 8:15.
Several charming playlets are shown, where the actors and actresses go through their several parts and talk just as if they were before the audience in flesh and blood. A complete minstrel show in two parts is given and the end men tell their jokes, the soloists sing the latest songs and the dancers both fancy and clog dance until one can hardly believe that they are looking at a motion picture production. Twelve pictures are shown, among which are included musical comedy, light opera, farce comedy, fairy plays and melodrama.
Only one performance is given at the matinee during the entire week and one at night. Patrons of this theatre should be on hand early so as not to miss the first picture, which is a lecturer who explains the invention and introduces several novelties.

SOME TOBACCO WAS CAUGHT BY FROSTS

Growers Begin to Doubt Feasibility of Planting Crops After Last of June.

There were several crops of tobacco which were caught by the frosts of this week although it is estimated that the loss to the county will be less than ten per cent of the total crop, with some salvage at that. However, it brings up the interesting question of late planting. The crops caught were for the most part planted early in July and even the middle of the month, although the ground was ready long before the plants were set.

One grower who had ten acres affected by the frost is seeking some advice to secure the early growth of plants and has written to the agricultural experimental station at Madison on the subject. He believes the question of growing sets earlier than usual will solve the problem and save the farmers thousands of dollars. The Edgerton Tobacco Reporter says of the crop conditions that it looks very much as if the market conditions would warrant the paying of very fair prices for the 1913 tobacco crop, whether the sales are made now or later. If we view the situation correctly, then there are some very good reasons why early buying ought not to be expected. The dealer who expects to pay strong prices for tobacco, certainly would be justified in waiting until the crop is cured and ready for market, so he could see what he was getting for his investment. No one can blame him for waiting to reduce the hazard of the speculation to a minimum. Many a packer has an opportunity to witness the folly of indiscriminate field buying while sampling his holdings of 1912 this season where the results of harvesting green tobacco are apparent on every hand in the unusual per cent of damage encountered. Experience very often is a dear teacher and the local packer who has his capital in a speculation always attended with more or less hazard is quite chary about repeating that of the past few years in the buying of immature tobacco in the fields. If for no other reason there is ample excuse for letting the tobacco crop alone until it is in condition for market.

In the face of the Paul law designed to prevent the early sales of tobacco the buying movement is gaining some headway during the week and possibly a few hundred acres of the new crop has been contracted for in scattering sales throughout the growing sections of the state. Except in the Vernon county section none of the larger operators have as yet been drawn into the movement but no one can tell how soon the country districts will be alive with buyers.

We append a few sample sales showing the trend of prices:

Atwood Bros. 18a at 11c4c.
Philip Ullius 12a at 11c4c.
Clarence Bunting 10a at 11c4c.
Ole Johnson 8a at 11c4c.
Robert Kusch 5a at 11c4c.
Otto Rucks, 8a at 10c4c.
Chris Christianson, 6a at 9c4c.

The first frosts of the season came on the mornings of the 22nd and 23rd, and caught fully 10 per cent of the crop either cut and piled or standing in the field but some salvage will be obtained from this portion of the crop which is being shedded.

Sampling of last season's holdings is proceeding slowly as the work of cleaning and repacking is accomplished.

Aside from a few small lots totaling less than 100000 lbs. of no sales of tobacco of importance.

The shipments out of storage reach only about 20000 lbs. at all points from this market since last report.

HATTON MAY SEEK GOVERNOR'S CHAIR

Former New London Senator In Line For Nomination. It is Said.

The hunt for a candidate for governor on the republican side continues in unabated vigor. So far it has gotten nowhere, says the Milwaukee Sentinel.

Both sides to the search have been traveling around in a circle. There are indications that point to the possibility of former Senator W. H. Hatton of New London, coming into the game. Should he do so, it will be on the La Follette rather than the McGovern side. There is no certainty about the former senator, however. One of his pronounced characteristics is cautiousness, and conditions just at present would justify the exercise of this quality in a superlative degree. Producing the senator would desire anything like a good fighting chance of winning.

This is something that can not be given him. Guarantees of that kind will be difficult next year. With candidates on both sides of it dominating faction among the republicans and the bull moose promising to come in with a candidate who is looked upon to gather in quite a bunch of votes, there will be nothing certain next year.

Five Candidates Possible.

However, with Mr. Hatton in there would be five possible candidates on the republican side, including former Senator A. W. Sanborn, Senator George E. Scott, Speaker Merwin Hall, C. H. Crownhart and Mr. Hatton. Under one, it is admitted, would make a good general ticket, but under normal conditions, with no question of his election. But the coming year will not see anything like normal conditions, and therefore what is wanted is a phenomenally strong candidate, something that has not been developed up to date. It is claimed, however, by Mr. Hatton's friends, that after all is said and done he would be the strongest of all those named. It is pointed out that his run for the senatorial nomination four years ago made him widely known throughout the state, which would be a valuable asset to a gubernatorial candidacy under present conditions.

True Not to Run.

Politicians from the interior of the state say that Senator John M. True, who represents the twenty-seventh senatorial district, consisting of Sauk and Columbia counties, will not be a candidate for re-nomination. The senator, it is said, will make his home in New Jersey most of the time hereafter, where he has a son and daughter living. In case he retires there will probably be a fight for the nomination. The only name heard so far as a likely candidate is former Assemblyman E. E. Haight of Columbia county. He is said to be deciding to enter the race. It is said he will have plenty of company. Some mention has been made of Edward E. Haight, secretary of the republican state central committee, but Mr. Haight's law practice, it is said, will prevent him trying for senatorial honors.

Nye for Senator.

Some talk has been heard of the possibility of Assemblyman R. Nye being a candidate for senator in the eleventh district next year, when the term of Senator Linley's term expires and his successor will be chosen. Assemblyman Nye has served three terms in the assembly, being chairman of the assembly side of the committee last session. He was looked upon as one of the strongest men in the lower house. However he took the floor, which was sold out, he was listened to with attention and his words carried weight. It is expected that Senator Linley will be a candidate for re-nomination.

In case Senator M. F. White should decide to enter the race for the congressional nomination in the sixth district, it is rumored that Assemblyman W. E. Fuchler of Oconto will be a candidate for senator in the twelfth district, which consists of Winnebago county.

Mr. Kemp left Janesville with his parents for New York in 1857. He is now returning home after a trip to the Pacific coast. Mr. Kemp remembers riding a boy on one of the first fire engines in Janesville, and he recalls this was undoubtedly the first real parade of the Janesville Fire Department in full uniform, leather helmets, brass shields, black pants, red-top boots, and leather belts which were held on the evening of June 27, 1878. POPULAR RULE

Their might, they exercise by day, and butcher folks by night. They're spreading freedom over the land, that boon for which men yearn, and singly, or in robber bands, they steal and kill and burn. The popular cannot, and nevermore, they know not why they fight; they only know each lawless deed brings them a strange delight. All masterless they go their ways, with musket, sword and dirk, and nevertheless, in coming days, will they get down to work. The flag of license they have held too long to let it go; when one has been so long, another will grow bold and give the lead. Stark and cool, beneath the Aztec skies, but why complain? The people rule!

Civilization is wonderful and benevolent, but it has nothing that can excel the charm that came to a twelve-year-old boy of the mountains when he saw the sights of his first circus and beheld the clowns. Often happiness is in not knowing too much, and always it is in having something new to know.
